FOR THE LATEST: VCC.CA/CS
For the latest information on courses, schedules, requirements and fees, please check vcc.ca/cs. This catalogue provides an overview of Vancouver Community College Continuing Studies (VCC CS) programs and courses. In the case of a discrepancy between this publication and vcc.ca, the website will be considered the official guide.

For upcoming information sessions visit vcc.ca/infosessions.
PAYMENT AND FEES
Course fees must be paid in full at the time of registration. In the case of a discrepancy between this publication and vcc.ca, the website will be considered the official guide. Fees are subject to change without notice. We accept VISA, MasterCard and American Express. Payment can also be by cash, debit, cheque or money order payable to Vancouver Community College. Post-dated cheques are not accepted. A $30 fee is charged for non-sufficient funds. For international students, international fees apply. Please contact the International Education Office for more information. Please note that a textbook may be required for your course. Please check vcc.ca/bookstore for textbook information and hours of operation.

Program cost estimates are approximate, and may vary depending on electives chosen and completion time. They do not include supply fees – these amounts will be assessed at the time of registration. Tuition fees are subject to an annual increase as approved by the Board of Governors.

ADMISSION REQUIREMENTS
VCC is a post-secondary institution committed to educating adult learners. Applicants should be 16 years of age or older or a graduate of a secondary school (some exceptions may apply). VCC welcomes applications from Canadian citizens and permanent residents.

If you are not a Canadian citizen or permanent resident, please contact the International Education Office at study@vcc.ca or 604.443.8600 to determine your eligibility. Please note that not all CS programs are available to international students. If there are course specific requirements, they are noted on the program web page.

CANCELLATIONS
VCC reserves the right to cancel courses due to unavailability of instructors, facilities or insufficient enrolment. Should a course be cancelled, a full refund will be provided. It is important that you keep VCC informed of your current daytime telephone number.

REFUND REQUEST
Refund requests for a course or program must be made three business days prior to the start date. An original receipt must accompany all refund requests. If the original receipt is not available, the request must be received in writing. Please note all refunds are subject to a $35 administration fee. Please allow 4-6 weeks for processing refunds by cheque. Cash refunds are not available.

REFUND APPEALS
Refund requests submitted after the 72 hour deadline may be considered for appeal under special circumstances, such as court subpoena or family bereavement, upon provision of relevant supporting documents. Applicants must submit a completed Refund Appeal Form to the Dean, Centre for Continuing Studies. A decision will be rendered in writing within 30 days, and all decisions are final. In lieu of a refund, applicants may be offered a course fee deferral credit at the discretion of the Dean. All refunds and deferred fee credits are subject to an administrative fee of $35 per cancellation transaction.

PLEASE VISIT THE STUDENT RESOURCES SECTION OF VCC.CA/CS FOR FURTHER INFORMATION ABOUT REGISTERING AT VCC.

MY VANCOUVER

VCC music technology instructor shares favourite places close to Downtown campus

Georges Couling, a graduate of VCC’s Bachelor of Applied Music program, has been teaching recording, production, and online media at VCC since 2011. Through his production company, Knuckleduster Music, his work as a music producer and composer has been heard on TV and radio across the country. Here he shares some of his favourite places near the downtown campus:

Best music venue for local music: There’s seven nights a week of great local music to check out at Guilt & Company (1 Alexander St.) You’ll find VCC music alumni on stage there on a weekly (if not nightly) basis.

Best music venue for touring acts: The Commodore Ballroom (868 Granville St.) is a big enough venue to attract international acts, but it still retains an intimate feel when you’re in the audience.

Best sports bar: I am a big Canucks fan, so I enjoy going to Library Square (300 W Georgia St.) It’s got a good atmosphere, big screens, and is close to Rogers Arena in case you end up heading to the game.

After class drinks: If you’re looking for well prepared cocktails, then Pourhouse (162 Water St.) is where you want to be. They’ve got live music on most nights as well.

Best pizza: If you’re a fan of neapolitan pizza, then make sure to give Pizza Garden (675 Smithe St.) a try.

Favourite dinner spot: Wildebeest (120 W Hastings St.) is a great spot to check out. Their menu changes frequently, and you can let the server plan your dishes. The portions are on the small side, but delicious!

Best cheap eats: If you’re on a budget and in need of some cheap eats, then head down to El Furniture Warehouse (989 Granville St.) Their entire menu is $5.95 or less all day long.
From brioche to Bolo de Ferradura – take a European bread tour.

As Canadians we enjoy bannock and Montreal-style bagels as our national breads, but what originates in other countries? In VCC’s World of Bread class, you can experience baked goods from all over Europe. CBC Television personality, Chef Bruno Feldeisen of “Great Canadian Baking Show,” will lead you through the traditional breads of Ireland, France, Portugal, Italy, and Germany.

Bread, one of the oldest man-made foods, is a baked dough of flour and water. As you explore each country, flavours beyond white bread will be introduced. In the quick breads class, cheddar and chocolate are featured when students learn to make Irish soda and cheddar bread and a hazelnut chocolate stout bread. In Portugal, Pao com Churaco and Bolo de Ferradura will be sampled, and when you reach France, the rustic baguette and brioche will be baked to perfection. In Italy, black olives and tomatoes will flavour focaccia. Plus, Italian classics including pizza dough and Calabrese ciabatta will be kneaded.

In 2018, CNN Travel named Germany as the bread making capital of the world. In our Vancouver kitchens, students will bake roggenbrot sourdough rye bread and breakfast breads from the country.

More affordable than buying a ticket to Europe, VCC’s World of Bread class with Chef Bruno Feldeisen will be a tasty baking adventure.

GRANT WRITING FEATURE

Meet Grant Writing Instructor Robert W. Friedrich

What do you teach?
I teach Grant Writing Essentials. There is nothing more exciting than seeing a project that is going to make a positive change in a community come together in one of my classes.

What do you love about teaching?
I love when students get results. I recently taught a class and one of my students used the proposal we developed and she got $5,000 dollars for her Arts Center.

Can you share an interesting thing about your journey to reach this moment?
I developed a passion for projects that make a significant change in people’s lives while working at Canadian Heritage. Some of them were the most simple. I remember supporting the start of a National Kite festival still running today called Windscape.

How do you personally define success?
Was it fun? Did it help others? Will it leave a good legacy?

How did you learn the trade?
I started as a junior program officer in government helping people get into career training programs. From there I went onto working with community groups, to working on national social change programs, including going to Expo in 2000 in Hannover Germany with a group of young people who were making recommendations to a UN committee.

What is your best piece of advice for someone starting out in this industry?
For anyone writing their first grant, the best advice I can give is talk to the funder and read their guidelines. It tells you everything that they want and how they want it.

Interested in learning more?
Leadership programs are featured on pages 11-13.
NEW – PERSONAL FINANCE

NEW – FNCE 1001 BUILDING A STOCK PORTFOLIO
How do you evaluate stocks? How do you read an annual or quarterly report? What is a growth stock, a value stock, and a dividend? This course explains how to build a portfolio of stocks and ETFs. Examine case studies of U.S. and Canadian companies like Amazon, Apple, Royal Bank, TD Bank, BCE, and CN to better understand why and how they’ve provided excellent investment returns. With an understanding of some of the technical yardsticks for a successful stock portfolio, like P/E ratios, return on equity, dividend yield, and cash flow, learners will create practice portfolios to apply their learning.
$206.04 · 6 hours

NEW – FNCE 1000 FINANCIAL LITERACY 101
To achieve your financial goals, you need to understand the vocabulary of money, and how our financial, credit, and investment systems work. This course is a survey of everything to do with money – from credit cards, mortgages and interest rates to stocks, bonds, ETFs, RSPs and TFSAs. Examine household budgets, personal audits and other ways to track and control spending.
$200.04 · 6 hours

NEW – FNCE 1002 UNDERSTANDING THE STOCK MARKET
The stock market is a powerful tool for building wealth over time. This course explains how markets work, focusing on stocks, bonds, mutual funds, and ETFs. Examine the relative merits of using a financial or investment advisor versus setting up self-directed investing accounts, and how to make the best use of RSPs and TFSAs.

VCC’s Fashion students dress influencer, Mel K. of Bag and a Beret

Each year, VCC fashion students are tasked with creating a custom outfit as part of the Fashion Design & Production Diploma. After a couple of years of designing for musicians on stage and the red carpet, this year influencer Mel K. presented students with the challenge of making clothes worthy for her Instagram feed, @bagandaberet.

Taking inspiration from her avant garde style, the first-year students crafted head-turning looks using eye popping colour, patchwork, flashy fabrics and unconventional materials like plastic.

“I was stunned by their amazing work! These are pieces I’ll wear with pride,” says Mel K. “A heartfelt thank you for inviting me to be part of this project. Being around people buzzing with creative vision and drive inspires my own work and fuels me with optimism for the future.”

Developing clothing for Mel K. was the fourth in a series of five fashion cycle classes that allow students to experience the fast-paced fashion process from design, drafting and construction to marketing and sales. Their first project, completed in the first six weeks of school, was a tote bag, then they created t-shirts and draped tops. Their final fashion cycle project is to create a five-piece business-casual look to donate to The Harvest Project.

Meet Nancy Woltjer, Instructor for Gentle Persuasive Approaches in Dementia Care

Tell us about your teaching career.
I taught for four years in VCC’s occupational and physical therapy assistant program, but this is my first year teaching in Continuing Studies. I love seeing students get excited about helping people.

What is your current career?
I am an occupational therapist working in Home Health as a clinical coordinator for the Adult Day Programs in Vancouver Coastal Health.

Can you share an interesting thing about your journey?
It’s been an interesting journey of ‘one thing leading to another’ and always in the direction of helping seniors and helping others help seniors live the best life they can.

How do you personally define success?
Everyone pulling together for a greater good and not being afraid to make mistakes.

If you could have lunch with anyone, who would it be and why?
Beth Moore because she’s such a great teacher and her teaching has inspired me. I would love to ask her what inspires her.

How did you learn the trade?
I obtained my Bachelor of Science in Occupational Therapy and my Masters of Rehabilitation Sciences at UBC.

What is your best piece of advice for someone starting out in this industry?
Find mentors and learn from them; tap into their wisdom.

New Counselling Skills Foundational Certificate at VCC

VCC has been training students in counselling skills since 1980. Over the years, the curriculum has evolved with advancements in harm reduction strategies, pharmacological treatments, and client-centred recovery. As opioid-related deaths continue to devastate B.C. communities, addiction support workers are more in-demand than ever.

In response, VCC will be launching a new Counselling Skills Foundational Certificate for those entering the social service field, or those wishing to upgrade their skills. Students will receive practical and experiential learning that is grounded in theory and evidence-based practice.

According to the BC Labour Market Outlook, social and community services workers will see an expected increase of 10,800 jobs by 2024, 50% of which are in the Lower Mainland.

“Our grads get practical, hands-on experiences throughout the program that culminates in a practicum,” says VCC counselling program coordinator Matthew Stevenson. “Upon graduation, students are prepared to work with clients and our industry contacts recognize this.”

On the importance of reading: you can’t step into the same desert twice.

By Kevin Spenst, Instructor, Writing, VCC

If the letters of the alphabet were sand, my apartment would be a desert of literature with ever-shifting dunes burying the end of the kitchen table, the wooden-crate coffee-table in the living room, and other surfaces too. Each time a book is opened, an oasis forms.

Last month I travelled between Evelyn Lau’s Runaway: Diary of a Street Kid, Therese Marie Mailhot’s Heart Berries, and M.A.C. Farrant’s The Great Happiness. Like a lot of readers, I like having a number of books on the go. It opens a wider territory of the imagination; the books speak to one another in unexpected ways. The trauma in Lau’s Runaway, written in the intense rush and scramble of youth, contrasts with Mailhot’s book, which was written and polished after the fact. Both Lau and Mailhot are writing their way out of trauma, but at different stages of their lives. Ostensibly, The Great Happiness, a collection of humorous flash fictions, has nothing at all to do with either, and yet, older than the other two writers, Farrant writes in an acerbic wit that has been hard-won through the wisdom of age. Maybe. At the very least, it makes one wonder how our experiences and age inform our style and content.

As a writer, it’s my pleasure and professional commitment to read as much as possible. I want to learn what has informed and inspired others by travelling through as many worlds as I can. Anyone interested in writing creatively for public consumption has to read. Just as we learn to speak from others, we learn to write from others directly and indirectly. In a world articulated out of words in so many ways, we need to read and understand how our experience, beliefs, and imagination fit into the bigger scheme of things. Reading is at least half of the work of writing.

What will we read next? How will we digest those words? What words will we contribute to literary conversations?

Drop the traditional brushes and pick up an airbrush instead

An airbrush may not be the first thing that comes to mind when talking about makeup. With a compressor supplying the air source, a makeup artist can control the application with the airbrush creating naturally looking flawless skin. The makeup lays on top of the skin not clogging the pores and can last for up to 15 hours. With practice, a makeup artist can create a full look in half the time than traditional application methods.

In VCC’s Airbrush Makeup class, students explore the technical aspects of the airbrush and its practical use in a professional makeup environment. They will implement a wide-range of looks and techniques such as an evening, bridal, high fashion and classic day look for a photo shoot.

“I love the makeup program. It’s perfect for someone who works full-time,” says student Irene Jui Kabush. “All the instructors in this program have been wonderful and so supportive.”

Airbrush Makeup is offered as part of VCC’s makeup artistry certificate program or can be taken as professional development with program coordinator approval. Anyone wishing to take a makeup course as professional development must have a certificate or diploma from a certified school, or have been working for five years as a makeup artist.

The age of the coders
By Rod Monk, Instructor, Technology, VCC

Every era has a profession that defines it. In the early 20th century it was the age of the mechanical engineer and the mass production of cars; followed by the age of the communications engineers who collectively shrank distances. And now, clearly, we are in the age of the coders. Almost every day each of us either finds – or stumbles across – some new and useful software feature that some coder somewhere judged would be useful to more than just themselves.

Are you a potential coder?
Do you like to build big beautiful things? Do you like to make things run efficiently? When you set your mind to a task, are you relentless? If you answered yes to any of these questions, then this could be the career for you. If you are worried you need a strong background in mathematics, you don’t. There are many software systems that scarcely refer to anything more than high school mathematics. Having a post-secondary background in mathematics can help in a subset of software projects.

Women are underrepresented
Female coders make up only about 15% of the coder population. But here are a couple of historical tidbits to be aware of: the very first programmer, from the 19th century, was a woman! We even know her name: Ada Lovelace. She programmed on a mechanical computer called the ‘Analytic Machine’ before the electronics industry even existed. Another tidbit: In the earliest days of computers (1950s), most coders were women. This was because males thought that the real action was with hardware.

Why Python?
Python has a lot going for it: an easy to learn syntax; “batteries included” meaning that it comes with a wide range of freely accessible libraries; and it’s the lingua franca of Data Science, AI, Machine Learning, and Deep Learning. Using Python you can “automate the boring stuff” (the title of our textbook), but Python can be used to solve some of the most intractable problems known to humankind. Also, computer languages are very similar; once you know one, you can fast-track your way into others. Python is an easy first step if you want to fully participate in the age of the coders.

Meet Phil Dougan, Instructor for Law and Tenant Relations

For over six years, Phil Dougan has been teaching in VCC’s Building Manager Program. Phil is well-versed with Strata Property Law; Civil Resolution, Residential Tenancy, and Human Rights tribunals; and employment matters.

What do you love about teaching?
No two classes are the same, but seeing people move from not understanding to a good grasp of something quite complicated is very gratifying.

What is your current career?
I am a lawyer; I work in real estate litigation, mostly related to strata corporations.

Can you share an interesting thing about your journey?
My life is diverse; I now run my own law firm, Citadel Law Corporation, with a friend from law school. I also have eight children, and now one grandson.

Before I was in law, I worked on a farm as a shepherd, drove a truck, worked in grocery, in charity, and church work, and lived in four countries.

How do you personally define success?
When all that you need is also all that you want.

How did you learn the trade?
I went to Law School when I was 38, so I already had a lot of ‘life’ under my belt. Law is very much the study of life, determining the rules we make for ourselves for each part of life, and then to try and make it fair for everyone.

What is your best piece of advice for someone starting out in this industry?
“Blessed are the flexible, for they shall not be bent out of shape.”
