

VCC welcomes new international students to join the Fall 2015 term

New international students participated in orientation on either September 2 or 3, depending on their programs. Students received information about people and resources available to them at VCC and in Vancouver. Topics included: cultural adjustment, important immigration documents, VCC services and support, staying safe and healthy, and Campus Tours were led by returning VCC international student volunteers.

Important information is covered during this two-day event.
